SIXTH FORM NEWS

July 2024

With the end of an academic year there necessarily comes a number of farewells. I hope that you enjoy the photos in this edition, both of our awards evening and our Year 13 Leavers' Ball. As our Year 13 students move onto new things it is with a mix of joy and sadness that we say goodbye to them.

There are also some members of our staff team who are moving onto new roles either in college or elsewhere who I want to thank and mention here. In her role as school Chaplain Claire Rennie will no longer have a Sixth Form Tutor Group next year. She has been an absolute asset to our Tutor team for the past two years and we'll miss her in this capacity, but look forward to what she will offer the college spiritually in the coming years as co-Chaplain.

Ms. Sladewski has also been a Sixth Form Tutor for two years and will now be moving onto work in a (very lucky) school in Hong Kong! Good luck and farewell to Kristy.

The talented Mr. Brown is leaving his teaching career behind to pursue his art, drawing caricatures at celebrations such as those shared later in this edition! Thanks to Adam for his support of Year 12 this year. His Form will be taken over by Mrs. Davie and we look forward to welcoming her onto our Sixth Form team. Finally Mrs. Carroll our Pastoral Support Assistant has been promoted to Year Team Leader in college for Year 11 from September. We know that she'll be fabulous in this role and wish her all the best. Sue Cronin is our new Pastoral Support Assistant for Sixth Form and has already started working with our young people, Welcome Sue.

We wish you all a wonderful summer.

Mrs. Conway-Hughes

Reflection

"Come to me, all you who are weary and burdened, and I will give you rest. Take my yoke upon you and learn from me, for I am gentle and humble in heart, and you will find rest for your souls. For my yoke is easy and my burden is light."

Matthew 11:28-30

HIGHLY COMMENDED

News

Lianne Ponferrada for her general election assembly for Year 12 —it was really informative and very well delivered. Thank you Lianne.

Thank you to the Year 6 Transition support team including: Faith Wagstaff, Amelie Reddecliff, Abi Gilliam-Miller, Olivia Valvona, Evie Wells, Sam Willis, Jasmine Latif, Seth Burton, Tagen Harmon-Wingate, Maddison Hole, Grace Lavelle, Bella Adams, Sheridan Fox, Logan Haywood, Lianne Ponferrada, Caleb Palmer and Olivia Wilkinson. A special thank you to Sam Willis for coordinating this team.

Thank you to Peter Abbott for offering to support with transition days even though he'd finished school!

Many congratulations to Lianne Ponferrada for attending a UNIQ Residential at Oxford University.

Congratulations to ex-student Piers Ramsdale-Capper who has just completed his undergraduate degree at Durham University with a First Class in Psychology. He will now be continuing his studies at the University of Manchester next year with a Masters in Clinical and Health Psychology to continue pursuing his goal to become a Clinical Psychologist. Piers came into college and delivered a little expose on what he's learned about university applications to our current Year 12 students. Thank you Piers

News

We would be really grateful to Year 13 students who have no further need for their A Level Textbooks to donate these back to the college. We would also gratefully receive items of clothing and uniform to contribute to our reserves for future cohorts. If you have anything that you'd like to donate please bring it to the main college reception and ask that it be passed onto Mrs Conway-Hughes. Thank you

Please return all

News from the jungle!

Tuesday 16th July

Today was our last day at Bilit Lodge, and we finished our community work at the village school. We painted the name of the school and their slogan in black letters, and some extra information in bright colours. We also added our handprints as signatures, so a little bit of us will remain for ever on this giant sign board in this very special place.

After lunch we had a volleyball match with the primary school teachers, as they finish their teaching by 1p.m. One of our teams won, but our 'B' team was definitely out-classed! In the evening some of the school children came over to the lodge and did some dancing for us which was lovely. At the end we were asked to join in and everyone had a great dance, followed by a karaoke session. It was a great last night.

Wednesday 17th July

Today started early, and we got to the 40km² Sepilok orangutan sanctuary in time for the feeding at 10 a.m. We enjoyed watching the orphaned orangutans in the nursery area compete with the pig-tailed macaque monkeys for the bananas, and an adult female with her baby. The baby, just like most babies, was much more interested in playing than eating and it kept us entertained with its antics. Our second trip was to a sun bear conservation centre where rescued sunbears are rehabilitated and released back into the wild. The final trip of the day was to a rainforest discovery centre skywalk, where we walked in and above the canopy of the trees. Unfortunately our BandB for the night had been double booked, so we ended up in a 4 star hotel with pool, and were sent out for an amazing Chinese meal. Everyone is getting much more adventurous with food and a lot of them students tried calamari, fish with mango sauce and vegetables with bean curd, as well as fried chicken.

Thursday 18th July

We arrived at Camp Bongkud today after a 5 hour road trip. We settled into our longhouses and got to know the students from another group who are also staying in the camp. Our afternoon activity was learning Malay and Dusun words and phrases, learning to sing in Malay and then to dance. The students from the two groups then settled into a great game of football followed by an evening of socialising. It is hard to believe we have been away from the UK a week already, as we have done and seen so much. The students are embracing everything really well, and they are having an amazing time.

Psychology Trips

On Thursday 3rd July 10 psychology and sociology students visited Solent University in Southampton. They had 3 sessions on Psychology (Biopsychology), sociology (sexuality and gender) and criminology (explaining criminal behaviour). They also had a tour of the campus, including their amazing sports facilities, mock nursing ward and broadcasting studios. We were all amazed of what Solent had to offer, not only state of the art technology (e.g. tremor gloves, BIOPAC, EEG equipment, life like model in a bed and 3D imagery of inside the body) but we were also surprised to hear that many of their courses offer no terminal exam style learning, which could suit many students way of learning. The staff were very welcoming and they seemed to enjoy the day.

Psychology Trips

On Wednesday the 17th of July 11 Psychology students and Miss Harland ventured over to the University of Portsmouth Psychology Department for the day on Wednesday 17th July. The day consisted of 4 different sessions.

Session 1: Myths and tricks in Psychology; where Prof Ed showed us how our mind can play tricks on us and that we shouldn't trust everything that we think we see. He demonstrated how our memory can be manipulated and crazy illusions that trick our nervous system, making things feel very surreal (phantom limb trick).

Session 2: Explaining emotions using infrared cameras. Here we discussed the fight or flight response and the physiological changes that occur in the body. He talked about his Doctorate and what happens when we cry.

Session 3: Eye tracking to find out what we really look at when we are reading or looking at images. We explored why our eyes do these saccades, which ensure that we see whole images and to stop us feeling dizzy when we move our eyes. It was interesting to find out what our eyes do when we try to pick a criminal out of a lineup of 10 people. We saw that we didn't look at all 10 but skipped to those who looked most similar to the criminal, or who we thought the criminal was.

Session 4: Progressive relaxation and vagus nerve stimulation activities. This was very beneficial, because I found the vagus nerve one very therapeutic and felt myself instantly calmed. Most of the students looked ready for a nap after this session.

We discussed careers linked to Psychology and what University life is like. The students were able to ask the professors and undergraduate students of both Psychology and Forensic Psychology questions.

We had a great day and would love to go back again next year, so watch this space.

Health Survey

Unloc has been working closely with Southern Health NHS Foundation Trust for the last 6 years and the reason for this email comes from a new piece of work we have been asked to do with them, you may or may not know that the trust is currently merging with multiple other trusts across Hampshire to create a more streamlined service provider. This means that the trust will have one offer for Mental Health support for young people across almost all of Hampshire, as a part of this process they would like to get the views of Young People, Professionals and Parents on what this service could look like.

I know it is very late in the year and there is such a small amount of the school year left, however, Southern Health were let down by the previous people who were gathering this information so have commissioned Unloc to follow through with it at the last minute.

I would very much appreciate your help with circulating the below surveys with your students, parents and fellow teachers.

MARKETING MANAGER APPRENTICESHIP AT PFIZER

Marketing Manager

As a level 6 Marketing Manager, your primary responsibility is to drive revenue growth by both retaining existing patients and recruiting new ones. You will play a vital role in supporting projects and initiatives aimed at achieving revenue targets. This involves collaborating with cross-functional teams, fostering relationships with internal and external stakeholders, and managing budgets effectively. Your work will contribute to the development and execution of marketing and business strategies, ensuring alignment with brand strategies and gathering valuable customer insights. Moreover, you'll need to adhere to company policies, uphold Pfizer's values, and comply with global regulatory guidelines.

HOW THIS ROLE UNLOCKS YOUR POTENTIAL

- In this dynamic role, you will gain valuable experience in pharmaceutical marketing. You'll have the opportunity to demonstrate leadership by coordinating cross-functional teams and driving projects towards success.
- Managing budgets and financial planning will enhance your financial acumen.
- Collaboration with customer-facing teams will improve your customer engagement and relationship-building skills. Moreover, your contribution to gathering customer and patient insights will sharpen your market analysis abilities.
- This role allows you to work independently and as part of a team, develop exceptional attention to detail, and refine your presentation skills for both verbal and written communication. It's a chance to make a meaningful impact in a challenging and rewarding environment.
