

Why you should study ...

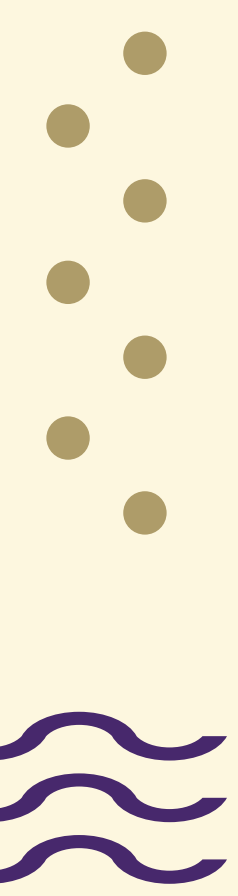

A-Level Latin

at Christ the King College

- Latin will appeal to those with an interest in classical history and civilisation; it requires an analytical mind, linguistic ability and a flair for literature
- The classical world is a fascinating place.
- Reading literature in the original language allows you to appreciate its beauty and the extent of its influence on the modern world
- This course will be helpful in many careers including: research, education, management, the civil service, law, banking, publishing, IT, journalism, archaeology or medicine.
- Latin is classed as a facilitating subject by the Russell Group of universities.

Contact:
harry.hare@christthekingcollege.co.uk

Students for this A level must have studied Latin at GCSE and should ideally have achieved at least a grade 6.

Subject Requirements

Course Structure

Translation (worth 33%)

Comprehension (17%)

Prose Literature (25%)

Verse Literature (25%)

